UPDATE

Regular sessions updated.
Places left:

- 1 place left for tomorrow night at The Cage.
- 2 places left for Wednesday night at Sports Planet.
- 1 place left for Thursday night at The Cage.
- Lots of places left for the two weekend sessions. If there are not enough players for two sessions, but enough for one, I'll go ahead with the one that is more popular, so if you choose only one, please state if you can make the other if the one you choose is cancelled. I'm looking to firm this up by Friday morning at the latest.

We had our first regular weekend session yesterday evening at Turf City.

A summary of FIOFAFI last week.

Tom is organizing tonight's FAFI session at Turf City. It's under the re-named OPSAGE page.

I understand that it is full, but I'm leaving it to Tom to update those playing on the state of play, including line ups and colours, and all other details, whether on the blog, via SMS or via e-mail.

The link to post/comment with the latest state of play can be found on the OPSAGE page.

The "Other Activities" page and category have been re-named OPSAGE.

It provides anyone with the freedom to propose, organize or offer other projects, sport, activities, games or events (apart from the regular sessions I organize) in the way they choose.

Predictor update - closing date is this Saturday, 16 May 2009, 7.45 pm.

[contd]

As far as possible, I'll limit my role in OPSAGE to linking the brief description of it on the OPSAGE page to the post or comment in which the latest details are set out.

Favourite clubs update - With the football season in much of Europe coming to an end this month, it's time to wear your loyalties on your sleeve.

On Seven Days:

- Arsenal Ladies pip Everton Ladies to the Women's Premier League.
- Barcelona have to wait to be crowned Spanish champions.
- Gillingham to face Shrewsbury in the League Two play-off finals. Rochdale remain in League Two for another season.
- Italian and Spanish cup finals on Wednesday.
